Statement On SC's New State Forester

by: Cam Crawford, President & CEO, Forestry Association of South Carolina

Oct. 6, 2017

Phillips

The Forestry Association of South Carolina congratulates Scott Phillips on being named State Forester and Director of the South Carolina Forestry Commission.

“The Forestry Association looks forward to working with newly appointed State Forester Scott Phillips in strengthening South Carolina’s $21 Billion wood and paper products industry, improving assistance to timberland owners and with protecting the state’s 13 million acres of forests and timberlands,” said Cam Crawford, Forestry Association of SC President and CEO.

McPhail

“The Forestry Association has always enjoyed our partnership with the Forestry Commission which is the state agency in charge of public forestry and our Association which represents the private sector wood and paper products industry and timberland owners,” said Crawford.

“Also, we would like to thank South Carolina Forestry Commission Chairman Dr. Walt McPhail and the other Commissioners for their hard work and dedication in selecting our next State Forester. Their efforts resulted in an excellent choice to lead the State Forestry Commission,” Crawford added.

Kodama

“The Forestry Association extends our gratitude to State Forester Gene Kodama for his outstanding leadership. State Forester Kodama’s most important legacy will be in rebuilding the firefighting capacity at the Commission. His actions have insured the safety of South Carolina citizens and their property as well as Forestry Commission personnel. The Forestry Association wishes Gene the best during his retirement,” Crawford said.
